

Q. Although carbon and hydrogen are better reducing agents but they are not used to reduce metallic oxides at high temperatures. Why?

Ans: It is because at high temperature carbon and hydrogen react with metals to form carbides and hydrides respectively and this reaction is feasible thermodynamically.