

Boric acid is an acid because its molecule

- (i) contains replaceable H^+ ion
- (ii) gives up a proton
- (iii) accepts OH^- from water releasing proton
- (iv) combines with proton from water molecule