

All the elements in group 14 exhibit tetravalency.

a) true

b) false

Answer: a

Explanation: In the case of carbon, 406 KJ per mole of energy is required for promotion of 2s electron to 2p. The formation of two extra bonds provides this energy, therefore we can say that all the elements exhibit tetravalency in group 14. So the above statement is true.