

Q3. Does refraction of light mean just a change in the direction of light propagation?

Answer: No. Direction of light propagation can be changed even by reflection from a mirror. But when light travels from one medium to another, the change in the direction of light propagation is called refraction.