

Question 66. Assertion (A): In presence of enzyme, substrate molecule can be attacked by the reagent effectively.

Reason (R): Active sites of enzymes hold the substrate molecule in a suitable position.

Solution: (a) In presence of enzyme substrate molecule can be attacked by the reagent effectively because active sites of enzymes hold the substrate molecule in a suitable position