

A man standing on a platform holds weights in his outstretched arms. The system rotates freely about a central vertical axis. If he now draws the weights inwards close to his body,

- (a) the angular velocity of the system will increase
- (b) the angular momentum of the system will decrease

ANS - A