

Question 3

Name the energy which arises due to the motion of atoms or molecules in a body. How is this energy affected when the temperature is increased?

Solution:

Thermal energy arises due to the motion of atoms or molecules in the body. If we increase the temperature then the kinetic energy of atom and molecule increases significantly.