

Tips and Tricks

- Write down important formulas in a cheat sheet from formulas section and use these to solve problems from sheets and ncert. A fair number of questions are given below each video on the website try to solve them.

- Remember that the coefficients of  $x, y, z$  in plane equation are direction ratios of its normal. similar thing is also true for the equation of line.

- Try to be an active reader and problem solver to grasp any concept of any subject. By active I mean consistency. Consistency is everything.

- I have given similar types of problems in problem sections, try to solve them in timed manner. Timing your problem solving can make your study more efficient.

- Solve of lots of problems from other reference books and coaching notes that are given below each video.