

Preparation of Bakelite proceeds via reactions :

A Electrophilic substitution and dehydration

B Electrophilic addition and dehydration

C Nucleophilic addition and dehydration

D Condensation and elimination

Formation of Bakelite follows electrophilic substitution Reaction of Phenol with formaldehyde followed by condensation.

Hence, option A is correct.

